What's New in the Book?

This 2010 edition of "Getting Down to Business" continues to expand the listings for groups and services that help you get your business off to a good start. We have given these business development services their own section to highlight them. These are very valuable resources and, while some may not apply to your business at start-up, they may be of great service when you expand your operation. Equally important, many of them offer free services!

While we try to verify that all the telephone numbers and addresses are current, government offices do move, so please verify addresses before visiting the offices listed.

Not every business needs to contact every office listed. The best way to discover just whom you should contact is to read this guide, develop a list of contacts, and when you do speak with staff you should always ask, "Is there another agency I should contact?"

The County of Sacramento recognizes the importance of business, large and small, in creating a livable community in which we can all take pride. If there are any questions you have regarding establishing a business in Sacramento County or if there are any suggestions you would like to make for future enhancements to this guidebook, please contact the Business License unit of the Sacramento County Department of Finance.

Getting Down to Business

Government regulations exist to protect the community, but can often seem complex and confusing. This guidebook is designed to help you understand the government regulatory process as it affects starting a new business or expanding an existing one in the County of Sacramento.

For instance, if you are interested in starting a new business, this booklet will provide information on the necessary steps to obtain a business license and other required permits with which to carry out your operations in Sacramento County. If you're expanding an existing business, this booklet will help you identify the local agencies involved with permits for new construction or improvements.

Keep this guide in your favorites and use it as a reference for quick access to County agencies as your business grows.

Most of the fees and permits listed in this booklet are not refundable. If your application for a permit is denied or your business venture is not successful, you will not receive a refund on these permits. Please note that all fees are subject to change.

Before applying for any of the business permits outlined in this booklet and before signing any lease or rental agreements, you must check that the proposed use of the business is consistent with the Zoning and Building Code requirements for the proposed use of the property. A building that meets Zoning and Building Code requirements for retail sales may not meet the requirements for an auto repair facility. Even if the previous business activities were in a building the same as yours, it does not mean you will be approved for a license at the location. Do not rely solely on your landlord or real estate agent for this information. Improper zoning or building code issues can result in denial of your business license, additional fees, and legal action. See the "Zoning Check" and "Building Code Requirements/Building Inspections" sections.

We have attempted to make this guide as complete as possible, but each business is individual and not every permit or license can be listed. It is your responsibility to comply with all government regulations.

Best wishes in your new endeavor!

How to use this guide

We have tried to arrange this book in much the same order you should follow in establishing a business - checking on the zoning and building occupancy of likely locations, obtaining a license, registering the business name, checking on sign permits, etc. Beyond these initial steps, the permits involved will depend on the type of business being considered. A restaurant or other food service operation has significantly different licensing requirements than an automotive repair business. In any case, if you have questions as to whether a permit applies to your business, call and ask the particular department.

We have included a description of the various permits and which department issues them; however, the licenses and permits you need will depend upon the type of business you plan to operate and the proposed location. Carefully read the description of each permit to determine the permits that are applicable to your business. While many of the permits listed apply to all types of business, it is important to note that where you intend to locate the business will determine which government office you must deal with. Many of the addresses and requirements listed in this book apply only to businesses within the "unincorporated" area of Sacramento County, which is the area outside the city limits of Sacramento, Folsom, Isleton, Citrus Heights, Galt, Elk Grove, or Rancho Cordova. These City jurisdictions have rules and permits of their own and we have attempted to include the proper phone numbers for these jurisdictions. In addition, the book cannot address specialized types of business and may not contain information regarding all State of California licenses. Should you have any questions or require assistance, contact the appropriate Business License section and a representative will assist you in your efforts.

Most government offices maintain web sites and often the best way to get up-to-date information on contacts, applications, and regulations is to visit their Internet sites.

Back to Directory

Whose Permit Do I Need?

The Sacramento area is covered by several different levels of government, and while there is some overlap in the responsibilities of the various government agencies, in many cases you must contact the local jurisdiction for permits. Jurisdiction for a business license is determined by where the base of business is located. Mobile businesses will be licensed from your base of business, which may be a commercial location you have leased or your home.

State of California

The State is generally responsible for sales tax and income tax matters as well as licensing of professionals such as lawyers, doctors, and contractors. See the listings in the Guide or check with the Department of Consumer Affairs at www.dca.ca.gov.

Sacramento County

Within the boundaries of Sacramento County there are eight major government jurisdictions: the unincorporated County, and the seven incorporated cities, each of which has its own license bureaus and regulations.

County of Sacramento Business Licenses

Covers licensing for businesses based in the unincorporated area (not based in one of the cities in the county).

Tips for Dealing with Government Offices

Always get the name of the person you're dealing with.*

Government offices are almost always large organizations where many people answer the phone. Knowing whom you spoke with can help clarify things if delays or difficulties develop.

Always make notes as you speak.*

This will help you keep the information straight and help you connect names with phone numbers.

Always ask the phone number and Unit/Department your call is being transferred to.*

This will help if you get disconnected or if you need to call back.

The number you first call may be the main reception area. You may have to repeat your request or explain your situation to more than one person. Expect this, and give complete but concise information so you can be forwarded to the right person.

Zoning Check

Cities and counties control the way land is used in their jurisdictions in order to protect neighborhoods, encourage good development practices, and support property values. Most communities restrict certain business activities to certain areas or zones. Planning staff will assist you in determining whether the proposed use is consistent with the zoning for your property location.

You should check zoning with the appropriate Planning Department before:

- signing a lease or rental agreement.
- starting a new business.
- remodeling an existing building.

- constructing a new building.
- putting up temporary or permanent signs.
- conducting a grand opening or special sales event.

For information on requirements in an incorporated city, contact the appropriate city office. See page 5 for listing of incorporated cities.

For the Unincorporated area in Sacramento County contact:

Sacramento County Planning and Community Development Department

827 7th Street, Room 101

Sacramento, CA 95814

(916) 874-6221

9:00 a.m. - 4:45 p.m.

www.planning.saccounty.net

To check the zoning, you must know the exact address of the property, or the Assessor's Parcel Number (APN). If you are the property owner, this number can be obtained from your property tax statement. If you are a renter or lessee, your landlord will have the number. If this number is not readily available, you can obtain this information from the Sacramento County Assessor at (916) 875-0700. Once you have obtained the Assessor's Parcel Number, verify if the property is in the unincorporated area or an incorporated city. Once you know which jurisdiction, contact that appropriate Planning Department to check the zoning.

- You need to check the zoning to make sure your proposed business is allowed in the zone. If the use is not consistent with the existing zoning, you may need to apply for a conditional use permit.
- Your proposed building will need to comply with development standards found in the Zoning Code, including things such as parking requirements and landscaping.

If you need a land use permit (conditional use permit, rezone, variance, tentative map, etc.), Planning staff will assist you in determining exactly what kind of permit you need, how long it will take to process, and what fees are involved.

The planning process for review and approval of an application can take anywhere from a few weeks to several months, depending on the type and complexity of the application. The process may involve environmental review in order to comply with the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA). Public hearings may be required.

Building Code Requirements/Building Inspections

(Commercial Building Permits/ Plan Submittal and Review/Permit Issuance)

Cities and counties control the way buildings are used in their jurisdictions in order to protect neighborhoods, encourage good development practices, and support property values. Most communities restrict certain business activities to buildings that have the correct structure for the activity.

You should check with the Building Department before:

- starting a new business.
- remodeling an existing building.
- constructing a new building.
- moving into a new building.

For information on requirements in an incorporated city, contact the appropriate city office.

For the unincorporated area in Sacramento County contact:

Sacramento County Municipal Services Agency
Building Inspection Division
4101 Branch Center Road
Sacramento, CA 95827
(916) 875-5296
www.msa.saccounty.net/buildinginspection

The County Building Inspection Division also provides information to comply with the California Building Code, as well as the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). They suggest you check into ADA Accessibility Guidelines at www.access-board.gov/adaag.

More information regarding ADA requirements can be found at <http://www.ada.gov/business.htm>

Building Permits

A Building Permit is required in most cases when you plan to make physical or cosmetic changes (electrical, mechanical or plumbing installations or alterations) to the interior or exterior of the building you plan to occupy or if you are constructing a new building. A Building Permit is required when there is a change in the use of an existing space, such as putting a restaurant in what was a retail store space.

When a permit is required, plans should be submitted for Plan Review and a Building Permit issued before starting any construction or remodeling. During the course of construction or remodeling, building inspectors are required to inspect the work performed.

The total Permit fee is based on the value of the work to be performed, including the mechanical, plumbing, and electrical work. Half of the Permit fee is collected when the plans are submitted for Plan Review; the remainder is due at the time the permits are issued. For more information, contact the Building Inspection Division and request a copy of the informational form BID#069 be mailed to you.

Note: A floor plan drawing for the Assessor's use must be filed with building plans. The law requires that any time an owner or builder files a set of building plans with the Building Inspector as part of the building permit application process they must also include a floor plan drawing for the Assessor's use. The format of that floor plan drawing is specified in the Revenue & Taxation Code and must be sufficient in detail to allow the Assessor to determine the square footage of the buildings (that is, it must include dimensions and the scale of the drawing). For more information, call the Assessor's Assessment Standards Division at (916) 875-0760.

New construction, changes to the landscaping or drainage, or other changes to the grading of a parcel may also require a permit from Water Resources. See "Wastewater Discharge" in this booklet.

Business Licenses

Business licenses are issued at the local level (city or county). Many cities issue licenses to collect tax revenue, while most counties, including Sacramento County, use licenses to regulate the business activity. These regulations include efforts to protect neighborhoods, encourage good development practices, and support the safety of residents.

For information on requirements in an incorporated city, contact the appropriate city office.

For the unincorporated area in Sacramento County contact:

Most businesses operating within Sacramento County are required to have one or more Business Licenses. There are several types of Business License, and your business may require one or more, depending on the business activity. Information and forms can be downloaded from our website.

Licenses issued by Sacramento County

General Business License (Commercial Based and Home Based)

The General Business License is chiefly a land use (zoning) regulatory permit, used to review where a business will be located. The County's land use zones restrict what types of business can operate in various areas - it is in your interest to verify the correct zoning before entering into any rental or lease agreements on a business site. This can be done by checking with the Planning Department.

Home-based businesses are subject to special regulations regarding the type and extent of business activity allowed. The purpose of these regulations is to protect the residential nature of the neighborhood and prevent nuisance complaints regarding noise, traffic, dust, etc. In addition, you should check your homeowners or renters insurance before starting a home occupation for any limitations. Note: There are certain business activities that are not allowed as home occupations, for example: businesses engaged in food preparation, hazardous materials handling or storage, auto or boat repair, cabinet shops, tow truck companies, and others cannot operate from a residence.

You can apply for your General License at the Business License public counter at the above address, request an application be mailed to you, download an application from our web site, or apply directly online. The General License is reviewed by the Planning Department, and review may take up to 45 days, though on average applications are processed within three weeks. If your business also requires a Special License, then the General License cannot be issued until the Special License is approved. The General License is good for three years from the date of issue, and the fee depends on the activities being conducted.

Note: Businesses that perform work that the State of California has deemed “contracting work” (building, remodeling, and various other construction-related activities) require a State Contractor’s License. By law, the County must verify that Business License applicants who apply to do contracting work have a valid State Contractor’s License.

Tobacco Retailer License

Retail sales of tobacco products and paraphernalia requires a Sacramento County Tobacco Retailer License in addition to the General Business License. A California Cigarette and Tobacco Products License is also required from the State Board of Equalization to sell tobacco in California. For information on the California Cigarette and Tobacco Products License see their website: <http://www.boe.ca.gov/sptaxprog/spctretailers.htm>.

Special Business Licenses and Employee Permits

Special Licenses are issued by the County to businesses requiring additional investigation and review. You will need a Special License if your business falls in the categories listed below. Your business may require both a General and a Special License. Certain business activities require a Special License when they are conducted in the unincorporated area, even if the business location is in one of the incorporated cities or neighboring counties. The Special License is approved by the Sheriff and is separate from the General License. You will be required to visit the Sheriff's Office to be photographed and fingerprinted, and the Sheriff will approve or deny your license following a background check. You are required to obtain a separate Special License for each of the activities listed below. The Special License is renewed good for one year from the date of issue.

The Sheriff will require a separate processing fee to place your fingerprints and those of all other partners/owners on file with the California Department of Justice. After you apply for a Special License, you will receive a pending Special License number. You will then go to the Sheriff’s Identification Unit in person to be fingerprinted and photographed to complete the application process.

Sacramento County requires that people performing certain business activities in the County obtain a background check by the Sheriff’s Department. To do so, they must apply for an “Employee Permit” through the Business License unit. The Permit requirement is not limited to employees, but covers all persons who perform certain activities, including owner-operators, independent contractors, and anyone associated with the business and who is doing their activities. Like the Special License, the Permit is a background check, requiring a photograph and fingerprinting at the Sheriff’s Identification Unit. The Employee Permit is a photo identification card and is renewed annually, and has a separate fingerprinting fee. For those Special License applicants who also need an Employee Permit (owner-operators of mobile food trucks, taxis, etc.), there is a reduced fee for the Permit.

Processing time for Special Licenses and Employee Permits can take up to 90 days from the filing date, though most are processed in three to four weeks.

Note: Many Special License activities conducted in the unincorporated area also require Use Permits or have zoning restrictions. Check with the Planning Department for more information.

Temporary Concessions (Street Vendors, etc.)

The purpose of these regulations is to prevent nuisance complaints regarding noise, traffic, trash, etc. Special permits are required in addition to the General Business License.

In addition to the General Business License, you must obtain a Temporary Use Permit from the Planning Department, which includes written permission from the owner of the property, and the appropriate business licenses. The sale of food for immediate consumption is only allowed in very limited situations. Street side food sales are NOT allowed in the unincorporated area of Sacramento County. See "Zoning Check" section for further information.

Temporary Uses

Many short-term special events (promotions, outdoor sales, street fairs, carnivals, dances, rallies, etc.) may require a Temporary Use Permit from the Planning Department. Contact the Planning Department for details.

Denials and the Appeal Process

If your license application is denied, there is an appeal process where you may request time to correct violations, or bring your case before an independent hearing officer. Details of the process will be given to you in the event of a denial.

Hotels, Motels and Other Lodging

If you are in the hotel or motel business, a Transient Occupancy Tax registration form will need to be completed at the time you apply for the General License. The Transient Occupancy Tax information form is available at the Business License Office or on-line at <http://www.finance.saccounty.net/Tax/BusLicForms.asp>. The County's Transient Occupancy Tax is currently 12 percent (12%) of gross room rental receipts. The tax is paid monthly to the County, and your records are subject to audit. There are substantial penalty and interest charges for late filings.

Sacramento County also collects an assessment on room rentals. The Sacramento Tourism Business Improvement District assessment rate is based on geographic area and hotel gross revenues, and varies from $.025 to $1.25 per night. Staff will provide details when the application is received.

If you will conduct business under a name other than one that contains your legal last name, the legal name of a corporation, or any name that suggests additional owners ("John Smith and Company," etc.) you need to file a Fictitious Business Name (FBN) Statement with the County, whether you are operating in the unincorporated area or in one of the incorporated cities. This statement must be filed within 40 days of the first day of business; however, it is recommended that you file before opening your business to avoid confusion.

FBNs can be filed by mail or at the Business License office. Forms can also be downloaded from our website. To look for a name being used, you can search on our web page, www.efbn.saccounty.net or there are public terminals available in our lobby.

The basic filing of your FBN Statement includes one business name, with one owner name. Additional business names and owner names on the Statement have an additional fee. After a Fictitious Business Name Statement has been filed, you will receive a certified copy of the application. The bank you choose for your business' financial transactions may request a copy of this certified form to open your account. The filing is valid for five years or until the facts in the statement change whichever occurs first.

Within 30 days after filing a Fictitious Business Name Statement, you need to publish the statement in a newspaper of general circulation in the County. The statement must be published once a week for four weeks. Depending on the newspaper's policy, either you or the newspaper will need to send proof of publication to the Business License unit. Publication costs are not included in the Fictitious Business Name Statement filing fee.

County staff cannot give legal advice regarding your business name or form of ownership. These questions should be addressed to an attorney or to a business support organization such as the Small Business Development Center. See their listing in this Guide.

Storm Water Requirements

Stormwater becomes polluted by flowing over dirty surfaces, such as parking lots. Stormwater pollution also takes place when someone dumps materials, like oil or paint, directly into the storm drain. Polluted stormwater flows without treatment directly to creeks and rivers, where it can be harmful to aquatic life.
